

Yellow Lupine – Blue Mountains
Photo by Melanie Weiss

ALL-EXPENSE PAID
SCHOLARSHIPS
TO A BUTTERFLY STUDY
WEEKEND
@ THE BLUE MOUNTAINS
SOUTHEASTERN WASHINGTON
JULY 10-12TH, 2020

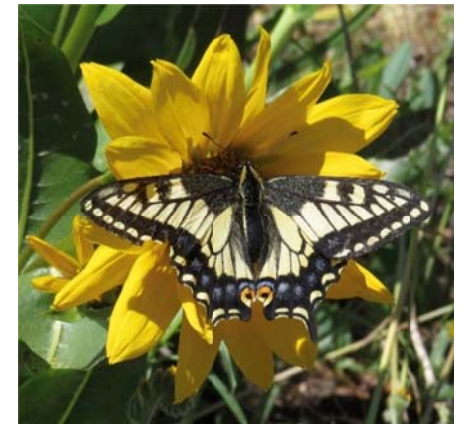

Great Spangled Fritillary
Photo by Mary Schu

Each year the Washington Butterfly Association offers three Idie Ulsh Young Naturalist Scholarships for our annual Butterfly Study Weekend. Each scholarship covers registration fees, lodging for two nights (this year lodging is in Dayton, WA), meals, and round-trip mileage from home to the venue for a 10-17 year old nature enthusiast and an accompanying parent or guardian. The only requirement is you have to be a resident of Washington, Oregon or Idaho. It is a chance to enjoy butterflies with people who know and love them. This year the Study Weekend will take place July 10-12th, 2020, in a variety of habitats in the Blue Mountains of Southeast Washington.

For a scholarship application, visit our website at www.wabutterflyassoc.org or contact us at wbascholarship@gmail.com.

Applications must be received by Monday, June 1st, 2020.

Our Butterfly Study Weekend provides an opportunity to spend a day and a half on summer field trips that are often too far away for a one-day visit. Study areas usually are east of the Cascades. We gather on Friday evening for light refreshments, socializing, and a review of species that we are likely to see on our field trips. Saturday consists of a fieldtrip in the morning through the afternoon, and in the evening, there will be a keynote speaker with a lovely dinner, silent auction and more socializing. Sunday, we have a half-day, ending in the early afternoon, giving people time to return home. However, we will be offering an optional fieldtrip on Monday for anyone who wants to stay, but the hotel for Sunday night into Monday would be at your own expense.

Anise Swallowtail
Photo by Melanie Weiss